DANVILLE FAIR AT CLIMAX TODAY

"DANVILLE DAY" TO BRING OUT RECORD CROWD

Attendance Figures Indicate Financial Success of Annual Undertaking—Baby Show Will Be Friday Morning Feature.

Attendance eclipsing that of yesterday was expected this afternoon and tonight of the four-day fair known as "Danville Day" and in years past has usually seen the greatest number of people entering the grounds. With fine and balmy weather A. D. Starling, president of the Fair Association expected to establish a new record by the time the fireworks begin shortly before nine o'clock this evening.

Approximately 16,000 persons entered the fair enclosure yesterday afternoon and night. Mr. Starling said this morning that a new record was being set in this setting a new record for the fairgrounds. Factors in the heavy patronage are the inherent worth of the fair exceptionally fine weather and the good condition of the roads which brought farmers and the townsfolk from all of the adjacent counties and others from the Virginia side. The great throng was clearly revealed last night under the calcium exhibition of fireworks included in the exhibition of the International Fireworks Company of New Jersey. The grand stand was filled with the surrounding area. The display of fireworks was a great area. The display of fireworks was a great area. The display of fireworks was a great area.

2 NAVAL MEN DROWN AS CAR LEAVES BRIDGE

Car Plunges Through Rail
Into 16 Feet of Water at Norfolk

(By The Associated Press.)
NORFOLK, Oct. 16.—Two naval men—one an officer—in a closed car were drowned at 7:30 o'clock this morning when the automobile broke through the railing of the Church-land bridge and landed in sixteen feet of water in western branch of the Elizabeth river.

The dead are E. Buchanan, director of the navy, and a sailor, first class, also of the navy base. Harold Allison, seaman, first class, who also was in the car, was able to escape the accident. He was brought to the naval hospital at Portsmouth for treatment of minor injuries.

A navy yard tug with derrick and diving gear was sent to the scene of the accident about ten o'clock and it is expected the automobile will be raised with the two bodies drowned will be raised without difficulty.

The officer and two men were on their way to the Point when the car struck the railing of the bridge just as it was about to enter the water in mid-stream.

A navy tug with divers arrived on the scene shortly after 10 o'clock and 15 minutes later the bodies of Lieutenant Buchanan and the sailor were recovered. A derrick on the tug is attempting to lift the car.

Lieut. Buchanan was 34 years old, having been born in Indiana, December 2, 1899. He was a temporary officer in the navy during the world war and was appointed to the regular service November 23, 1921. He has been stationed at the naval base practically ever since the war.

He cited stories in the Japanese press here purporting to be dispatches from Tokyo and Peking in which it was stated that American soldiers were fighting in the central government ranks and that tanks were being operated by Americans in Peking field forces.

Augmenting his recital of the activities of the Japanese general, Captain Baldwin showed General Chang how the propaganda affected visiting Americans by detailing the experience of the "wanderer" world tourists who were accused of being American spies and refused passports on the ground that they were not American citizens.

Captain Baldwin said America was absolutely neutral in the Chinese internal war situation and told General Chang that the propaganda circulated by the Japanese press was seriously affecting American interests in Manchuria because of the gullibility of the Chinese public.

As a result Japanese consul at Mukden has agreed to issue a warning to all Japanese papers here to suppress false reports. General Chang told Captain Baldwin that he did not believe the reports but added that he was in a position to regulate the Japanese pointing out that his troops were being moved south over the Japanese controlled "South Manchurian railway."

U. S. Military Observer at Mukden Takes Action to Stop Anti-American Propaganda—Consul Issues Warning to Newspapers.

(By The Associated Press.)
MUKDEN, Manchuria, Oct. 15.—Anti-American propaganda published in the Japanese press here, in which it was asserted that Americans had landed arms in China and the Peking soldiers were fighting in the Peking army resisting the offensive of General Chang Tso-shan. Manchurian leader today brought a personal protest from Capt. Norman L. Baldwin, official American military observer here.

As a result Japanese consul at Mukden has agreed to issue a warning to all Japanese papers here to suppress false reports. General Chang told Captain Baldwin that he did not believe the reports but added that he was in a position to regulate the Japanese pointing out that his troops were being moved south over the Japanese controlled "South Manchurian railway."

FAIR SOCIALIST SPELLBINDER

LOOK HERE, GIRLS!
(By The Associated Press.)
LEIPZIG, Germany, October 16.—Lipsic, Germany, has developed among young women here who use the rouge too freely.

The physicians express their belief that the ingredients from lipsic, mostly cheap and unhygienic, cause this trouble when it comes in contact with food that goes to the stomach.

QUOTA VERDICT IS ARRIVED AT IN SALLY CASE

Plaintiff Wins $1,093—Appeal May Be Taken—Jury
Was Out 15 Minutes.

The suit instituted by Miss Odie Sally against the City of Danville for the recovery of $7,000 damages terminated yesterday evening when the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff for $1,093. The Henry county jury received the case shortly after five o'clock and remained out for fifteen minutes. It was later said that the decision arrived at was what is known as a quota verdict, that is the amounts which each of the jurors believed should be given were totaled and then divided by the number of jurors this giving the figure contained in the verdict.

City Attorney A. M. Aiken asked for suspension of execution of the sentence for sixty days in which time to determine on an appeal, a motion for a new trial being promptly overruled by Judge Price Withers. It is possible that the city council will be consulted for purpose of determining if the case shall be carried to the higher court or if the damages assessed shall be paid.

The suit which lasted all day was the outcome of a fall which Miss Sally claimed she sustained two years ago on Claborn street when she slipped on a patch of ice. She claimed that the city was negligent in not having the sidewalk cleared of ice.

Miss Carrie Gregory, Lynchburg attorney who took a precedent in the corporation on court by appearing as one of the members of the opening statement but was not heard in the summing up.

The Sally suit virtually brought the present term of court to a close. More jury cases are expected to be heard in the coming days. A few more motions are to be made after which the records will be signed and adjournment taken.

Judge Withers has granted a new trial in the case of Turk's jewelry. The plaintiff, Turk, provided that the plaintiff will pay the costs of the trial held at this session of the court.

Mr. Davis Special En Route to Chicago, Oct. 16.—John W. Davis, democratic candidate for president, left for Chicago today. He was scheduled to arrive there about three o'clock this afternoon and begin to speak at the auditorium. A series of addresses extending until Friday evening when he expects to depart for East St. Louis, Ill., and Missouri.

The trip from Quincy began early today. There was no set program for the trip. Davis is expected to speak at Quincy, Ill., and at other points along the route. Those in charge of the trip announced that the main purpose of this arrangement was to permit the candidate to obtain as much contact as possible in order that he might be in the best of condition for the Chicago campaign.

Mr. Davis declined to supplement his statement made public in Quincy regarding the charges he made against the republicans. He made no statement about the charges of Daugherty and George B. Lockwood, secretary of the republican national committee. In connection with the indictment of Senator Burton K. Wheeler, the incident was regarded as nothing to retract nor add to his previous pronouncements on the subject.

The candidates speech at Baldwin Park at Quincy yesterday brought in a number of congratulatory messages from Illinois democratic county and state leaders. One message came from an admirer who said he was traveling in the East and had been "fully repaid" despite the fact that his automobile behaved badly all the way to Quincy and home.

Mr. P. H. Windsor received a telegram yesterday conveying the sad news of the death of Mrs. Louis D. Windsor, which occurred at Wesleyville, Newfoundland, last Saturday. She is the mother of Peter H. Windsor, who has made Danville his home for the past four years. Mr. Windsor was called to Wesleyville last Thursday on account of the death of his sister, Miss Emily Windsor, who died at her home in Wesleyville. He will not reach there until sometime today.

Mrs. Windsor was Miss Lucy M. Bishop, before marriage and a consistent member of the Methodist church. She is survived by her husband, L. D. Windsor, and the following children, Andrew, Gladstone, William, of Brooklyn, N. Y., Mrs. Sue Hann, of Toronto Canada and Peter H. Windsor, of this city, who has been engaged in constructing a cotton mill at High Shoals North Carolina for the past four months.

A strange coincidence but in an hour after Mrs. Windsor had received the telegram conveying the death of her mother-in-law, she received a letter from her written on October 6th.

TOWN TOPICS

Efforts made to induce Dr. J. M. Whitfield, state chemist at Richmond, to induce a fee for the chemical analysis of the fee, three hundred dollars, is still going on. E. C. Taylor having taken charge of the fund. The air's father was expected today from Seneca, N. C., with the likelihood of the full amount being secured during the course of the day, in which event the subject of the analysis will be forwarded to Richmond. A week probably will elapse before any definite conclusions is reached.

ARRESTS SON

Deputy Sheriff Edward Kahl, of Gillespie, Ill., went through the ordeal of arresting his own son for murder. The son, Lester Kahl, 24 (above), has confessed, authorities say, that he killed his father a week (below) into the country, shot her and then buried her body in a shallow grave. The State is demanding the death penalty.

STROKE FATAL TO F. L. WALKER AT EARLY HOUR

Pioneer Citizen Dies at West
Main Street Home After Brief Illness.

Death at 1:30 o'clock this morning claimed Fielding Lewis Walker, pioneer resident of Danville and a prominent figure in this community's early development. He died at his home, 440 West Main street following a stroke of paralysis by which he was overcome at 7 o'clock last Saturday morning, his left side being affected. Mr. Walker who was in his eighty-second year had enjoyed unusually good health, but a week ago was confined to his room with an attack of sciatica. The stroke which resulted fatally came without premonition and since the seizure he had been gradually weakening. He remained however conscious until late yesterday evening.

The funeral will take place at 11 o'clock on Friday morning from the First Presbyterian church, of which he had for so long been a devoted member, and of which he had for many years been an elder. Rev. Joseph Duglison will conduct the obsequies and interment will follow in the family square in Green Hill cemetery where his wife lies buried.

Mr. Walker had for 43 years lived in Danville. He was born in Milton, N. C. on July 4, 1852, being the son of A. J. Walker and Lucy Meriwether Lewis and thus a descendant of the famed explorer first to penetrate into the great northwest. The source of the family name was a member of the Longstreet's brigade which fought through the great epic of that war. He was unwounded.

Mr. Walker was married to Miss Penelope Wilson, of Milton, where he was established for some years in business. Mr. and Mrs. Walker moved to Danville in 1881 and made their permanent home here from that time on. He was at first in the insurance business and established what is said to have been Danville's first "Barn & Loan Association." He later went into the coal and wood business. Grief over Mr. Walker's passing was almost universal today and handsome eulogies were paid to his life and character. He was especially devoted to his church, of which he became a member soon after making Danville his home. He was rarely absent from its services of worship and gave himself generously to the work incidental to the eldership.

Mr. Walker, and his wife who died a few years ago, raised a large and useful family. Ten children survive as follows:

Mr. Walker, of Louisville, vice-president of Liggett-Myers Tobacco Company; F. L. Walker, Durham, N. C.; L. M. Walker, Petersburg; C. B. Walker, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Miss Maitland, of Danville; Mrs. L. P. Morgan, Pittsylvania; Mrs. William H. Jones, Danville; Miss Annie Walker, Danville; and Miss Agnes Walker, Danville.

WRONG NAME GIVEN
In reporting yesterday quarantine proceedings, the name of Mrs. Jake Silverman was given when in reality it was Mrs. Lewis Silverman defendant in the ZR-3 today charged with the announcing pending action by his office, was under the impression that the first name given was correct.

LAKE HURST, N. Y., Oct. 16.—While the whole world marveled at the feat the 31 members of the party that traveled from Germany to America in the ZR-3 today enjoyed their full day of rest since leaving Friedrichshafen Sunday they spent the evening before calmly telling the story of the flight in phrases that seemed almost common place compared to the magnitude of their accomplishment.

While they talked they smoked—a pleasure that was forbidden on the ship because of the danger of an explosion. The Germans, who composed the crew which guided the giant airship on her epoch-making flight left the huge craft reluctantly. They were fond of the craft with the four engines and the vessel that has brought them safely to port.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, Zeppelin president, who commanded the ZR-3 on its transatlantic voyage, was enthusiastically about the accomplishment of his craft that he expressed the belief that a regular line of airships carrying freight and passengers between Germany and the United States may be established soon. He said the trip could be made in less than 24 hours and 17 minutes, the time required by the ZR-3 to make the voyage. Dr. Eckener planned that to land at New York, Baltimore soon is to be annihilated. But this time it was a German crew and a German captain, sailing in a super-Zep, directed from the Zeppelin, that demonstrated to the world the triumph of the new world that it is not so all red immune as it some times has supposed. The American ship Shenandoah has often been seen in the New York skies, but she is a rigid and only drops in from New Jersey, so there was not the thrill connected with her visits that New York eyes this morning and saw the big airship, with its express train speed. An old-world visitor a craft born of dreams of a military creation which might reach eventually to all the corners of the earth, she sailed this time of a new day in commercial transportation. She differs little in general contour from the wartime "Zep," only the big commercial ship was so built as seemingly to offer a new variety note. German-like, (Continued on Page Three)

La Follette Going to Minnesota

(By The Associated Press.)
DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 15.—Senator Robert M. La Follette left here today to carry his fight for the presidency into Minnesota, which has two farmer-labor senators. He speaks tonight in Minneapolis and then will swing into South Dakota for a campaign speech tomorrow night in Sioux Falls.

La Follette, probably today, in both of those addresses the independent candidate for president would discuss the problems of the farmer. That was his subject here last night before an audience which filled the coliseum, the largest auditorium in Des Moines.

During his speech, Senator La Follette endorsed Senator Brookhart of this state, who is seeking reelection as a republican, although outspoken in his criticism of both President Coolidge and his running mate, C. G. Dawes.

Another Chain Store to Open
Doors in City
Building Now Occupied by
I. Rosenstock Leased to
New York Corporation

Danville is to have a new general merchandise store.

It became known this morning that Isadore Raiff and Adolph Glass, owners of the Raiff's Chain Store, plan to open such a store in Danville not later than January 1, 1935, perhaps sooner. The store now occupied by I. Rosenstock, on Main Street, and will be the site of the new concern, which specializes in a variety of general merchandise ranging in prices from one cent to one dollar.

The building has been leased for a period of fifteen years for $30,000, or for $50,000 per year, the deal having been made by G. G. Temple, through Patton, Temple and Williamson, after several weeks of negotiation.

The statement that the new store may be opened sooner than the first of 1935 is based on the fact that the lease, which will be recorded in a few local corporation court within a few days, gives the lessee possession, so to speak, of the building at any time that they can arrange to take possession, should it be able to do so.

The chain store concern plans to extensively remodel the store to suit its convenience. It is proposed to spend about $10,000 in improvements on this expense, as provided in the lease, to be met by the Raiff's.

The new operation, a chain of their stores, including Durham, Winston-Salem, Martinsville, Fayetteville, and South Boston. The concern is rated at half a million dollars. The local store will open with a stock of goods valued at $50,000. It is understood that the lease is a very much larger sum yearly than at present.

The Silvermans, who are in the clothing business here, purchased the store about four years ago from E. Brodman for $62,500. In a recent letter to Laban Silverman, from the head of the Rayless corporation, it was stated that they had been anxious to get located here and had been trying for some time to obtain a store.

WOMAN VOTER NOW HAS CHANCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Miss Julia C. Lathrop, former chief of the Children's Bureau, chosen one of the twelve greatest women of the United States, and who is recognized as one of the foremost experts on child welfare, is quite enthusiastic over the "Get-Out-the-Vote" campaign being carried on by the National League of Women Voters.

"Why get out the vote? Why have a campaign? Why urge a vote without regard to the platform of support?"

Miss Lathrop has answered these questions for women through the Illinois League of Women Voters, and her views are incorporated in the "Get-Out-the-Vote" literature being used by the National League of Women Voters.

"Every honest, intelligent vote is important to its possessor, and the sum of such votes gives a map of public opinion which ever party may win a given election," says Miss Lathrop.

"The campaign will prove educational to all who take part in it, and to all who are induced to vote by it. If you take a vigorous part in the campaign you will make new acquaintances, learn to know your neighbors, and learn to respect many whom you now forget."

"Here also is a chance for the new woman voter to make good. No delusive claims of superiority or even equality will stand if our vote falls below the men's level. Let us get out the vote, and vote ourselves for sheer self-respect, for the glory of the game, for some good candidates in the cause we believe for the country's good."

OPIUM TRADE DISPUTES MAY CAUSE TONG WARS

By C. L. SCOTT
(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee)

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Storied oriental counter-espionage slinkin' about their strange, mysterious quarters bearing tong news that threatens to send the Chinese feudists into another of their deadly and spread-factional wars.

Two dead here have been added to the murdered tong members of the East—just the first victims of a general outbreak in Chinatown everywhere, if whispered warnings and wry-understanding smiles of prospective victims can be accepted.

Hip Sing and On Leong tongs are at war here with Chin Jack Lam, wealthy restaurant owner, sought as the power behind the battling. Rumors emanating from tong headquarters have it that Chin Jack Lam has recently been deposed from leadership of the On Leong society and is trying to build up a control among the Hip Sings.

J. V. McMillan, an American, only white member of the tong, now leads the Hip Sings. McMillan, through years of association with Orientals has assumed their characteristics and gradually built himself a following that gives him control of the tong.

Probably opium trade—one of the assumed activities of tongs—brings the clash that is spreading to every Chinese hangout and from the leaders percolates along grapevine routes to Lieutenant over the land. This traffic is highly profitable and control of it a coveted power that easily leads to fighting.

But whether Sam Him and Sam Ning died because of deals in opium probably never will be known. They were killed before witnesses—Hing died while two private detectives looked—but not a word have police officials been able to work out of witnesses or of Chinatown leaders that might indicate the identity of the assassins or the reason for the killings. Frank Moy, "mayor" of Chinatown and Willie Lee former "mayor" only smile and say they know nothing even when it is hinted that rumors tell of the chances of being added to the list of victims.

Just as in all tong wars, there is a conspiracy of silence to keep the effort of police. It even penetrates to the families of the victims who along with the other Chinamen can offer no possible reason for the killings, nor suggest who might be the slayers.

Instead of talking, the tong members are aiming throughout the local Chinese section, only a few short blocks from the heart of the Chicago business district. Police reserves have spent their time rounding up known tong member to relieve them of their shooting irons—for 'tis said that the heathen Chinese is taking to the gun and abandoning the knife and hatchet in his present fighting.

Whatever the tactics, the slayings in the East and mid-west have embittered the society members and have officials looking for further outbreaks of a serious nature. Chief of Police Collins here has warned the Chinese that they had better call off any general tong war that may be planned.

As yet the tong war has not flared up the Pacific coast—but killings there are expected if the tongs get into general action.

Tricks of FAKE MEDIUMS

I have previously mentioned the occasion on which Eusapia Palladino, the Italian medium, was detected in the performance of fraudulent manifestations. A phenomenon which had often occurred in Palladino's seances was the issuing of a cold breeze from a scar above her forehead, a psychic manifestation.

The method resorted to by Palladino was, however, remarkably simple. She extended her upper lip, and raised it above her upper lip, forming a sort of tube, and blew forcibly upwards. The breeze traveled along the side of her nose, and appeared to anyone who held his hand over her head, as though it came from above her forehead.

DEMOCRATS RECEIVE BALLS FOR SPEAKERS

RICHMOND, Oct. 15.—Large numbers of callers from all parts of the state are daily visiting State Democratic headquarters and obtaining literature for the voters in these sections and bringing in reports to the effect that the Democratic are discussing the campaign and that the usual Democratic majorities are expected. Requests for speakers are being received and local authorities are being allowed to invite such speakers as best suit them.

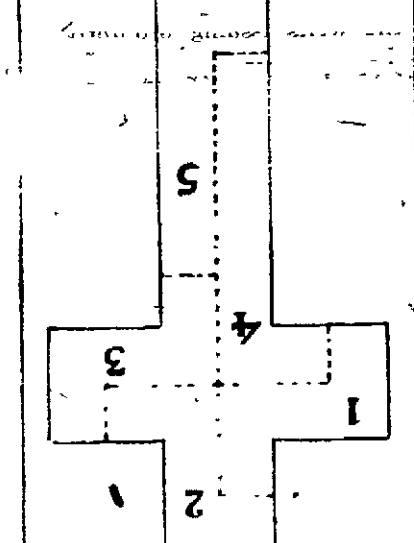

State Chairman Byrd is expected to return to the city Friday for a conference with several party leaders, and to make further arrangements for the campaign in the Ninth district.

DAILY PUZZLE

During a certain year in the last century (between 1800 and 1900), a certain man said:

"Multiply my age by itself, and the total will be the year in which I was born."

When was he born, how old was he, and in what year did he make the statement?

The drawing shows how the five figures may be joined together to form a cross.

AT THE MAJESTIC TONIGHT

"AND WHAT ABOUT LOVE?" CLARE JEWETT ASKS DANIEL IN CHANNING POLLOCK'S STIRLING PLAY, "THE FOOL"—THERE'S SOMETHING MORE IMPORTANT, DANIEL ANSWERS, "AND THAT SOMETHING IS DUTY"

Plays that arouse serious discussion and give the stage a place among the good influence in all too material a world are not written often and are less often produced.

An exception to this rule is said to be "The Fool," the widely discussed Channing Pollock play, which the Selwyns will present for a return engagement in this city tonight at the Majestic Theatre.

In this instance the playwright literally takes the bull by the horns. He brings in all the usually taboo subjects, such as the public, the now tense conflict between capital and labor, the old struggle between idealism and materialism. His hero is the "fool," the "failure," as measured by conventional standards, but the young clerk, untroubled by his own, is spoken of as the champion of the workers whose cause he champions, and dismissed curtly by the fashionable young woman who had promised to be his wife, finds peace and happiness in doing good and keeping faith. He is the modern apostle who would not change places with any millionaire in Christendom. He says so in the end, certain that his contribution to the world's work has brought him happiness.

The author is no Don Quixote. That would be the last thing to save of the writer of the Ziegfeld "Follies of 1921." He is a man of the world and an expert, veteran playwright, who feels that "The Fool" has a timely theme and that its appeal will not be denied, even by the more of less legendary tired business man. And the Selwyns are said to have backed up his conviction with a splendid production, a feature of which is a spectacular mob scene, which proves the spiritual power is the champion of the Golden Rule.

"The Fool" played to capacity houses in New York for more than a year, in Boston for six months and won high praise during its six months' stay in Chicago.

Dreams Each has Its Own Meaning

There are few of us who do not dream. Many are of telling their dreams and visions to those who have not experienced true dreaming may ridicule. Yet dreams come true—as many will admit.

From the beginning of time there are recorded dreams, many of which were fulfilled with great consequence to individuals, and even to nations. The Bible is filled with references to dreams, both in the Old and New Testament.

Dreams are often so vivid that they make a great impression and linger long in the memory. So real they are at times that we seem to be living through the experience. Perhaps the dreaming state has its own laws; it may be a condition not unlike our earthly life.

A scientific study of dreams has brought the general conclusion that women are more apt to dream of events which affect those nearest and dearest to them, while the men dream of those which most affect themselves or affairs.

As dreams are frequently symbolic, and more often jumbled, interpretations of these slumbering visions have been recorded, rearranged and corrected from time to time, until now these explanations are accepted as logical solutions.

Various explanations offered to different parts of dreams can be put together and this be taken as a whole to suggest the true meaning of the dream.

Interpretations
Altar—Good fortune.
Balloon—Lack of success in business.
Bath—Approaching marriage, (too cold) separation.
Beggar—Unexpected wealth.
Tunnel—A bitter experience.
Postman—News from a distance.
Marriage—Affliction and danger.
Mice—Danger from friends unsuccessful undertakings.

Living is always worth twice what it costs.

William Dorcus of Newton street, is again entangled on the charge of violating the state liquor law. He was held for grand jury action by Magistrate C. K. ## Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent on cough preparations by using the well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a year.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually and surely the annoying cough, tickle and dreaded cough disappears entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the mucous membrane. Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. ## BISHOP CANDLER REBUKES THOSE AT CONFERENCE

Threatens to Stop Religious Services Because of Loud Talking

(By The Associated Press.)

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 15.—Elimination of religious services during the remainder of the 142nd Virginia conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, was threatened today by Bishop Candler at the second day's session here.

"If you don't sit down and keep quiet while we are worshipping I will stop these services," said Bishop Candler. "These services are conducted at the request of the conference and those who do not want to worship should have respect for that desire on the part of others. You will have plenty of time to start your little business. Let us now worship God."

The bishop's rebuke caused an immediate hush in the hall. The incident took place just after Bishop Candler had delivered a scathing denunciation of "marketable religion." The bishop, in his short sermon, criticized the fables of modern life and urged a return to the spirit of humility as exemplified in Christ's washing the feet of the disciples.

"There is too much theatrical business, we don't need that in the Christian religion. We are tremendously addicted to publicity and God himself urged us to secret."

Bishop Candler criticized the modern tendency to have photographs taken and declared that "We have too many pictures of ourselves and spend too much time looking at them."

Simplicity in preaching was urged upon the delegates by the presiding bishop. He stressed the necessity of caring for "the little things in life."

Bishop Candler took a fling at those "who are about to launch" a tremendous movement. There are too many movements being launched," he said, "and being launched with a fan fare of trumpets. This is contrary to the manner in which Christ lived his life," the bishop said.

The movement for leadership among the youth also came in for criticism from the bishop. He declared that this movement "cheapens the ministry and the church." God makes leaders and "you can't manufacture them with hammer and tongs in a brick-and-mortar school."

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., was introduced to the conference and it was announced that he would speak later on "Temperance."

Seek Information On Funds Collected By 3 Big Parties

(By The Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Precise information as to the funds collected and distributed by the three major political parties, Republican, Democrat and Independent, was sought today by the special Senate committee on campaign expenditures.

These were prepared for submission at the first setting of the investigators. Besides Mr. Borah, Senators Caraway of Arkansas and Bayard of Delaware, Democrats, and Farmer-Labor, Minnesota, are on the committee.

Under a preliminary agreement by a majority of the committee, the reports will be analyzed carefully before the investigators turn their attention to the charges of Senator La Follette, independent presidential candidate, that the republican organization is collecting a large slush fund for use in States listed as doubtful.

A WORD FROM MR. FICKLEN.

Editor of The Bee: Unintentionally, no doubt, on the part of your reporter, I am grossly misrepresented in a sub-headline and article on page 9, column 1, of the Bee, home edition, October 15. This sub-headline, deleted, is repeated in the Register of today, October 16.

The said sub-headline was as follows: "Legal Contest on Validity of Ficklen's Ordinance." Appears in the Register of today, October 16. The ordinance passed by the council October 14. The body of the article contains this sentence: "The ordinance actually adopted by the council by a unanimous vote was drawn and presented by H. C. Ficklen."

None of the well known representatives of the press was present at the council meeting the night of October 14, and the reporting of it was necessarily second-hand. I ask, as I have a right to ask, for the publication of the name or names of the informant or informants of your reporter who could have so imposed upon him as to produce such a headline and statement.

I have drawn no zoning ordinance, signed no petition, and knew nothing of the whole proposition until I saw it mentioned in the press (of October 11) in a report of the council meeting. E. B. Meade presented the ordinance as drawn by Mr. Julian Meade. At the council meeting on the night of October 14th I appeared and spoke against the ordinance and also took an amendment to it which he had attached between October 10th and October 14th.

In my talk I suggested the insertion of a one-line amendment in the body of the ordinance which would clear up and determine what was meant at one point in the ordinance. The ordinance provides that a proportion of the street should be closed to traffic. This provision applied to the whole city. My suggested amendment was a simple declaratory statement in parenthesis that if one side of the street contained no residences, the ordinance did not apply, which was a natural inference anyhow. This was in her own hand, the ordinance of Mr. Boatwright the parent of the amendment was a typewritten exact copy of Mr. Julian Meade's original draft was used by me to give room for the insertion of the new sentence.

As the ordinance in parenthesis made a connection with the whole matter, and now to have this whole legislation palmed off and referred to in headlines (which are all that people read) as a libel upon me and nothing at all to do with the ordinance, the public to know who is responsible for it as well as for The Bee paragraph which was deleted from the subsequent Register edition that I am opposed to a filling station at the point which has been named by virtue of a protecting clause, which runs with the land, and binds the present owner of the council meeting.

The thrill of those Zeppelin nights in London can never be forgotten. First would come the ominous warning that 17 or 18 of the hostile craft had crossed the coast and were headed for the British capital. These warnings only reached the police and the newspaper offices and foreign correspondents. The waiting moments occasionally lengthened into an hour or more, were filled with imaginings and the knowledge that within a very short time many innocent souls beyond the sea were in a doom in the warnings for these who were compelled to go unwarned. Occasionally a Bobby would stroll along the street calling to the late pedestrian, please: air raid pending, please. And most of the time his warnings were met with a grin. There was sport to those raids as well as blood and terror.

The waiting moments occasionally lengthened into an hour or more, were filled with imaginings and the knowledge that within a very short time many innocent souls beyond the sea were in a doom in the warnings for these who were compelled to go unwarned. Occasionally a Bobby would stroll along the street calling to the late pedestrian, please: air raid pending, please. And most of the time his warnings were met with a grin. There was sport to those raids as well as blood and terror.

The thrill of those Zeppelin nights in London can never be forgotten. First would come the ominous warning that 17 or 18 of the hostile craft had crossed the coast and were headed for the British capital. These warnings only reached the police and the newspaper offices and foreign correspondents. ## HUGHES RAPS LA FOLLETTE AND HIS MEN

Declares Victory For Progressives Would Mean Destruction of Prosperity

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes, speaking at a meeting in Carnegie hall last night, declared that victory of the La Follette party would result in the destruction of prosperity in the United States.

Addressing the biggest republican rally of the present campaign, he urged support of Coolidge and Dawes as the means of warding off a "serious disaster." The secretary said that the democratic party could not cope with the situation as it seemed probable that in this election it "will be virtually cut to pieces in the west and will be honeycombed in the east."

The opening portion of his address was devoted to an appeal for support of Col. Theodore Roosevelt for governor. He said that the candidate "was a worthy son of a great father and that in addition he had a great case in industry and in business and giving valorous service on the battlefield, the colonel has shown his executive ability in the preparation of data for the Washington conference on limitation of armaments."

Smith Released With Reception; Speaks Tonight

(By The Associated Press.)

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 16.—Pleased by the reception he received here last night, Governor Smith planned to spend most of today in this city, proceeding in the later afternoon to Elmira for a speech this evening.

"Everybody's a stockholder in this great corporation, the state of New York, and so you're entitled to an accounting," he said, in an address last night. "Let's stop and look over the records."

Putting aside his notes, the governor then answered republican allegations that during his administration appropriations had increased $42,000,000.

The actual increase, he said, was $23,233,334 and he gave a detailed list of the items, many of which, he said, represented the negligence of the last republican administration.

The governor issued a proclamation yesterday asking the citizens of the state to observe October 27 as the anniversary of the birth of Theodore Roosevelt, father of his opponent.

Hyco Church Asks Return of Pastor

(Special to The Bee)

SOUTH POSTON, Va., Oct. 15.—The adjourned quarterly conference of Hyco church was held at Shady Grove church, Hyco, Va., on Monday, Oct. 13th.

After devotional exercises the meeting was called to order by Rev. E. W. Elliott, pastor in charge, and fifteen stewards answered to the roll call—every church on the circuit being represented.

The pastor's salary was paid in full, and most of the churches paid a part of the conference collections. A much better report was made at the close of this conference year than was made for the ensuing conference year (1924-25) is to place Hyco Circuit on the map as the leading circuit in the Danville District.

After the business session was concluded, a resolution was offered by L. S. Wolfe, Charge Lay Leader, and adopted by unanimous vote, requesting the return of Rev. E. W. Elliott for the coming year, and endorsing the good and faithful work he has rendered during his pastorate of Hyco Circuit.

Secretary of Henry County Fair Resigns

(Special to The Bee)

MARTINSVILLE, Va., Oct. 15.—O. E. Easley, secretary and treasurer of the Martinsville Fair Association, has tendered his resignation in that capacity, also as a director following the course adopted in permitting music to be played at the fair.

Mr. Easley recently voted negatively on the question of permitting the organization because of the belief that the permission granted is in violation with an existing statute ruling out the wheels.

The publication recently, however, of an opinion rendered by Commonwealth's Attorney J. W. Carter, of Danville, has revealed that the original law banning the wheels was nullified by a later statute and the understanding now is that the wheels can be operated at fairs and carnivals and that they give merchandise with each chance purchased.

NEWS ABOUT ZR-3 PREVENTS CRISIS IN GERMAN CABINET

(Copyright, 1924, by The Chicago Tribune.)

BERLIN, Oct. 15.—Many persons, from the chancellor down to the most humble newspaper reader, today are thanking heaven for the Zeppelin. For the ZR-3 has knocked the German cabinet crisis into a cocked hat. What the day before looked like a cabinet fall, with the dissolution of the Reichstag and new elections, suddenly disappeared under the flood of airship news.

No cabinet crisis is possible here without an outcry from the party press, and 90 per cent. of the papers here are strictly party organs whose one object is to make a crisis or maintain a cabinet against a crisis.

SEAPLANE REMAINS IN THE AIR 20 HOURS

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—An official world record for non-stop flight by a seaplane was set by a Navy scouting plane today. The plane, a Curtiss, today, after 20 hours, 10 minutes and ten seconds, as against the old time of 14 hours, 53 minutes and 44 seconds.

Five days ago a composite type seaplane, single motored, stayed in the air 20 hours and 28 minutes but the flight was not properly checked and was not recognized.

Manicuring Next to Math

CHICAGO SCHOOL GIRLS LEARNING MANICURING AND HAIR-DRESSING.

By GEORGE BRITT

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—What is the most attractive lure for femininity in the modern world? Ask the Chicago school system. It knows.

Therefore, to capture the interest of listless school-girls, to hold them in school when their thoughts are wandering, to instruct at the same time in the delights of beauty, there has been instituted a course in beauty.

It is called personal hygiene. And it is offered as yet only at the Illinois school, which is simply a girls' school, where its success has proven itself sufficient, according to Miss Dora Wells, principal, to justify wide extension.

"Girls in the eighth grade who are a bit over age and over sized and are feeling they are too big for the classroom are our material," says Miss Wells.

"Many of them are exceptionally bright. But because of delays they are losing interest in school. The personal hygiene course is classified as pre-vocational. Experience shows that it not only fits the girl to earn a living but it tides over her interest into the high school.

The girls have an hour of hygiene a day. They learn the proper care of themselves. They get physiology, hygiene, hair shampooing and curling manicuring and virtually all the natural, legitimate methods of beautifying.

"They do not get hair dyeing, nor anything so elaborate as massage. But one who has taken the course has learned the most of her own appearance, but if she chooses to enter a commercial beauty shop she can prove an unusually apt apprentice."

About thirty girls is a normal enrollment for the course, but in a prospective new building there will be accommodations for a larger class. Beauty culture is the latest addition in Chicago schools to the woman's vocational group, which already included sewing, millinery, cooking, stenography, teaching and art designing.

NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Old man Gannon never finished his job. He died before he could do it. So few of us find time to do the big things, we want to do.

Unless someone claims his body before these lines reach print, Old Man Gannon will be buried in Potter's Field.

For 29 years he lived in the same room over in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn. He always paid his rent, although he never worked and seemed to have no source of income.

Day in and day out he sat and read of Caesar, Alexander, Napoleon and other heroes of the centuries. When they found him dead they found these histories with dog-eared pages and marked passages. They found pen and paper, but the paper was blank. Old Man Gannon had a story to tell, but it was left untold.

He had intended to write a history some day, but that day never came. Perhaps there is no importance in being earnest, after all.

Old Man Gannon was earnest. He wouldn't do the job unless he could do it well.

Maybe the job wasn't as big as he thought it was. We all dream magnificently of ideas that they seem unreal, out of reach.

And if he had done the best he could, his body might not now be unclaimed.

NEW RULE MAY DESTROY LIVELIHOOD OF MANY WOMEN

PARIS, Oct. 15.—A new regulation in the Monte Carlo Casino doubling the minimum stakes for roulette threatens to destroy the livelihood of hundreds of old women, who have been one of the sights of the Riviera. These gentle, poor women, every third one of which is pointed out as a former "friend" of King Edward or former mistress of the former Kaiser, used to earn their living or eke out their incomes by 36 to 48 francs ($1.50 or $2) daily, won by cautious playing at roulette at 25 cents a shot. The new regulation establishes a minimum stake in the public rooms or "kitchen" as habitués call them, of $1.

The new regulation has been established chiefly as the result of the fallen exchange and in order also to accommodate Anglo-Saxon tourists, who found the place too small, but the principal result is sure to be to discourage Monte Carlo's fixed clientele, shabby old ladies who play every day from autumn to spring.

There are no records to show that any human beings have been buried alive in the United States in the last 10 years.

Arrive In City Without Money

The monthly report of the Traveler's Aid Society, of Danville, as submitted by Miss Minnie Westerfield, secretary and active worker of the society, shows that several hundred cases of need were given assistance during the month of September.

Miss Westerfield, who meets all trains coming into the Southern railway depot, finds many ways of helping those who need advice, and in many cases material assistance. During the last month sixty people arrived, whose friends or relatives failed to meet them. Six of these were in need of money, others were provided with transportation, and some required only telephone service, but in each case the assistance given was necessary, which is the point emphasized by the society.

Fifteen were directed to street cars, one hundred and fifty were directed to the depot, ninety-eight to the baggage room, fifty to the lunch room, ten to hotels, five to the Blue Triangle, fifty-eight to the city, five to the express office and several to the Y. W. C. A.

Information was given over the telephone to eighty-five persons, doctors were called, telegrams written, letters addressed, letters mailed, post cards secured, magazines secured, long-distance telephone calls, and many other minor services were rendered to the traveling public as they passed in or out of the city on trains. The figures are as follows: Information given to 523, women 189; men 19; young women 120; girls 23; boys 18; colored women 6; colored men 1; colored boys 1; minor cases 306, trains met 445.

SHEESLEY SHOWS UNTIL SATURDAY

All the tented wonders and the riding devices of the Greater Sheesley Show will remain intact on the midway at the Danville Fair until midnight Friday, closing day of the fair. Capt. John M. Sheesley is co-operating with the fair management to make the last day of the fair as interesting as the so-called "big" days.

The amusements provided this year far surpass those of previous fairs, and in the Sheesley Shows, that genius of outdoor showdom, Capt. Sheesley, apparently set out for new records. He has jammed the gay lanes with novel, diverting attractions of every conceivable nature. "Captain John's" pre-eminence as a purveyor of outdoor amusements is made more conspicuous by his knack of providing shows that are "peppy," hilarious and sensational enough to tickle the fancy of the most blasé and sophisticated amusement-seekers on the midway, and at the same time impressario of the canvas has shows in his string to please 'em all, from the "town cut-up" to the professor of Greek and Latin.

The midway was a phantasmagoria of noise and color early in the afternoon. The voices of "spellers" and "barkers" rose above the calthumpian bands, the wheezing of orchestrons and the din of rides and slides. Although not Children's Day, hundreds of them thronged the joy plaza. Believing bally-hoos performed in front of billowing canvases, "big" men and vendors of novelties, hot corn, peanuts and pink lemonade did a thriving business. The fat woman and the living skeleton, the dog-headed boy and the lady who looks like a butterfly, the snake-charmer never had more appreciative audiences. The autrodrome was roaring, the big "caterpillar" ride rattling like a rolling mill in full blast. The hum of the "butterfly" mingled with the raucous voices of the bally hoo artists.

Among tasks before the conference will be the fixing of the portion of German payments to be applied on installments due to the United States for the expenses of the American military occupational forces in the Rhineland.

THE DEATH OF SENATOR BRANDEGEE

The tragic suicide in Washington of Senator Frank B. Brandegee, of Connecticut, removes from that body a powerful figure in Republican councils and a legislator whose party service was the more valuable because of his long tenure of office. His sagacity of course may be matched by others but in the august legislative body it is length of service which produces the real leaders. Nobody can "arrive" in the figurative sense without passing through the long period of apprenticeship.

Mr. Brandegee's death is at tributed to unfortunate realty speculations which brought him to a low degree of prosperity. He had been brooding for more than three months and of recent weeks had been a recluse in his Washington home. Washington advises tell of his careful preparation for the end and his consideration for menials who had long served him.

Senator Brandegee will be remembered as one of the "bitter enders" in the League of Nations fight and one of the late Woodrow Wilson's implacable foes. He was solidly linked with Henry Cabot Lodge in that historic struggle on which the rest of the world hung and which was so vital to the future course of international prosperity. He was chairman of the judiciary committee but was an equally potent figure in the realm of foreign relations.

Speaking from the Republican standpoint he was considered as one of the firmest believers in the old order of things. His party regularity was never questioned and his Senate record shows no defection from the established Republican policies. His passing at this time is of serious moment to the Republican party with the question of control of the next Senate already a large question and with recent deaths having further narrowed the margin.

UNWISE INVESTMENTS

We sometimes wonder why the public year in and year out gives billions of its hard-earned money to stock swindlers. Everybody knows the country is polluted with wildcat securities and still these gullible ones give their money to a stranger on his unsupported statement that the stock he is selling is not a gamble and is the shortest route to wealth. Some shrewd stock salesmen have even admitted their investments are a gamble and thus appealed to the gambling instinct in their victims.

Perhaps our national weakness for backing stocks is partially explained in the report of the United States treasury that there are $19,000,000 in government securities, of which the redemption dates have expired and no longer draw interest, which have not been redeemed by their holders.

The government does everything within its power to draw its bonds in for redemption but such efforts can not succeed among bond holders who are oblivious to the interruption of their interest payments.

The experience of the treasury department and the prosperity of the dealers in worthless stocks make it manifest that the public is exceedingly gullible, is swayed by a passion for gambling against odds or has more money than it knows what to do with. All three may contribute equal-

Beauty

When I first read that sentence by Walt Whitman: "There is nothing common or unclean," I thought a great deal about it, as I have many times since. Every time I try to interpret its inner meaning; I think a great deal about it over and over again.

When I walk into strange, thick woods and hear the songs of new birds and smell the fragrance from wild flowers I think of this sentence in a new way: "There is nothing common or unclean."

The same thought comes to me in new grab, full of color and loveliness, when I see a stream and hear the music, bubbling over rocks and past banks strewn with green and the hangings of flowers bushes and trees.

I wish I understood why it is that a new piece of machinery has to be cared for and watched and even loved in order that it may remain, new-like and useful. Why does it rust and decay if it is unused and left by itself?

Why is it that the clean, innocent baby with its blue eyes and open smile may not retain such gifts through manhood or womanhood? If God had any idea at all about this world when He built it, it was that it should always be clean and beautiful, never common.

I understand a little about the workings of things—but only a little.

For instance, I see that two forces are ever at work; those of life and those of death. Ultimately everything of beauty and usefulness melts back into the heart of the earth and runs through its life veins again.

But the one glorious aspiration that streams through the elements of Nature is that of beauty. And human beings inherited this aspiration and this dream which might be called the breath of Heaven.

Whitman used to roam the fields and wilds. He loved everything that he could see. He talked with human beings wherever he found them and no matter how they were clad. And he came to this conclusion:

"There is nothing common or unclean."

INTERESTS ARE MUTUAL

Five thousand letters and telegrams are said to have been received by President Coolidge and Secretary of Commerce Hoover protesting against the proposal of the Radio Corporation of America to construct a system of super-power broadcasting stations in the United States.

Opposition to the proposed plan for establishing new high-power stations came up at a meeting of a sub-committee of the third national radio conference considering limitations charged that if the plan of radio channels were carried out, small operators would be forced to "increase the power of their equipment."

This is not the first instance of opposition to progress in invention and science. Owners of blacksmith shops along the National pike between Washington and Columbus, O., opposed the building of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad because steam power would ultimately drive stage coaches off the highway and ruin the business of horseholders and repairmen. When the London London Times substituted steam power for the old hand press its offices were mobbed by workmen who feared the loss of their jobs.

Few if any great inventions were developed with a purely altruistic object in view. In the case of the radio, as in others, the law of the survival of the fittest will prevail.

CLOSE ELECTIONS

Marcus Morton, elected governor of Massachusetts in 1840, led his opponent by only one vote.

One vote made Charles Sumner senator from Massachusetts in 1854. The action of a legislative body is often decided by one lone vote. And it has happened, many times in history, that the vote of one lone citizen determined which candidate was to hold public office.

This year's national elections probably will be very close. They may be decided by the votes of a few thousand individuals among the millions of voters. More than ever before, your vote is needed.

Your vote is needed! Your vote is needed! Your vote is needed!

One nice thing about having enemies is you can blame things on them instead of on yourself.

Just when women were doing nicely in politics someone carries the report that it makes them fat.

Business hint: Many coal dealers are interested in cash registers and adding machines.

Brilliance

One was very clever and one was very strong.
And one could play the violin and one could sing a song.
But he who had the clever mind thought all the good was wise.
And he who had the strength believed in strength all virtue lies.
The one who played the violin to music gave his years.
He'd little time for common things, for grows hasty and tears.
And he who had the lovely voice forgot the passing throng.
He thought it was enough to go to give the world his song.
Yet life wants more than cleverness and more than strength it needs.
The thing called "soul" is really shaped by countless little deeds.
And better than the clever man the kindly man may be.
And hearts as gentle sympathy.
The violin is sweet to hear, and sweet the gift of song.
But sweeter still is friendliness when trouble sways alone.
And love is never born of fame, nor gratitude, nor skill.
For kindness touches countless hearts that brilliance never will.

The Events Leading up to the Tragedy

WHEN LEHIGH FOUGHT PRINCETON TO A SCORELESS TIE

The biggest upset in the football season to date is the scoreless tie between Lehigh and Princeton. In the right of the picture you see Slagle, Tiger quarterback, starting a 45-yard run. He passed tackler after tackler until Greer, Lehigh captain, nailed him.

Letters Praising Action of Davis Are Made Public

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Three letters from union men, praising the part taken by John W. Davis in the litigation growing out of the West Virginia coal strike of 1922, were made public today through the democratic national committee by William B. Wilson, secretary of labor in the Wilson cabinet.

Barney Powell, president of local 4633, united mine workers, near Clarksburg, said that when "twenty-seven of us fellows at the Montana mine" were arrested, "John J. Davis, (father of the democratic nomination) and John W. Davis volunteered to defend us and did defend us free of all charges."

The third letter, from James H. Moore, of Clarksburg, said John W. Davis had volunteered to defend him and other miners arrested in the 1922 strike "and got us out of trouble."

Johnson's Future Still Undecided

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—The major post-season problem of the world championship Senators—whether Walter Johnson will be on next season's roster, remained unsolved today.

"Old Barney," who has been Washington's pitching mainstay for fifteen years, and is the dean of American League hurlers, announced last February that he intended to purchase an interest in some minor club, preferably in the Pacific coast league, so as to give his family a permanent home. The family's off-season home is Reno, Nevada, and now that some of his children are of school age, the ace of pitching aces feels he should settle down in the west.

Immediately after returning from a barnstorming trip Monday, he held a conference with Clark Griffith on plans for 1925, but after an hour's discussion no conclusion had been reached. No date has been set for further consideration of this matter, but it was indicated they would resume their discussion soon.

Interest Veers to Clash Between Yale and Dartmouth Sat.

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Sensing another upset, interest in the weekend gridiron contests has veered sharply to New Haven where Yale Dartmouth will clash.

The green swept through its preliminary games with a majesty that has fostered confidence in an ability "to go out and clean up" (this season, Yale standing in the path, must be destroyed).

Tale, with its great squad of 1923 disrupted by graduation and ineligible rules, has not been impressive in its construction. The stage was set for a Dartmouth victory.

But preparations in Hanover were a bit too feverish and the confidence overflew the campus and found its way into print and into New Haven. Tale was warned; and a team with a football tradition, regardless of its physical make-up will be hard to defeat after it has been warned of impending disaster.

Now, both elevens will trot on the field in a big-game atmosphere. The spiritual element will be added to the physical, and Yale has so much confidence in its own fighting qualities that orders, once leaning toward Dartmouth, have now been declared even.

Kid Sullivan Beats Ballerino

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Steve "Kid" Sullivan is gradually advancing value and prestige to his somewhat doubtful Junior lightweight division.

The new champion successfully defended his title for the second time last night by knocking out Mike Ballerino in the fifth round.

Sullivan, outpointed by Ballerino before he won the crown from Johnny Dundee, has acquired great confidence with the honor and two misses to cut a clear niche for himself in the elite circles by fighting well and often.

HOPPE TO ACCEPT

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—While Hoppe will accept the challenge of Young Jake Schaefer to a special boxing match, sport conditions. These are that they pay two blocks of 2000 points each instead of one of 4,000 as Schaefer proposed, and that the match take place during the last two weeks of November. Hoppe is willing to go to the coast for the fight.

Carries Her Coffin On Ocean Voyage

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Mrs. C. Creed, a London woman who said she always has had a fear of burial at sea, arrived today on the Lancastria bringing her own coffin. Ten years ago her husband died while crossing the Atlantic and the sea became his grave.

The casket, encased in a box marked "Personal property, non flammable," will cross the ocean again when Mrs. Creed returns to London after a visit to Washington, she said.

WILL DEVOTE EFFORTS TO INCREASE PRESIDENTIAL BALLOT BY 25 PER CENT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—The National League of Women Voters will seek through its efforts to increase the balloting at the November election on 25 per cent over what it was in 1920.

Discouraging talk by many men politicians has failed to lessen the enthusiasm of the women who are taking the "Get Out-the-Vote" campaign quite seriously.

The women figure they will show the men that their votes will not decrease, as has been the case with the male voter. They have set the goal at 6,880,497 more votes this year than in 1920. This would bring the total vote cast to 33,856,498.

In 1920, the total vote was four million short of what it would have been had women voted in the same proportion as men.

Men voters excelled the women tremendously in Illinois in 1920 and particular attention, will be paid to this state during the coming campaign. It was found that Illinois men cast 1,299,261 votes, 74.1 per cent of their potential voting strength, while women cast but 795,453 votes or 46.5 per cent of their voting strength.

Intensive missionary work is also being carried on in the southern states and in 21 northern and western states, where women are somewhat blamed for pulling down the percentage of voting.

The league has issued an election pamphlet on "Get Out the Vote" and gives the why, when and how to do it.

And these plans, as laid by the women, are going to show male politicians a thing or two about getting out the vote.

As everything is fair in love and politics, the women have seized the professional politicians' tactics and are planning to convert them to good use.

Elizabeth J. Hauser of Girard, O., all-known feminist leader, has written an article for the National League of Women Voters on how to organize for a campaign.

Professional "hard-headed" have often used the plan—but that makes no difference—it is a vote getter, and that is what is needed, in a political campaign.

"The way to get out the vote," writes Miss Hauser, "Let us begin with the block worker, and use the personal pronoun singular. I am assigned to my block. I call at every house to ascertain how many eligible voters live in the territory."

"In a book I list the names and addresses of all the voters in my territory. One visit to each residence will not be sufficient. In some instances I may have to go several times."

Enrolls All Voters
"As a nonpartisan worker I do not inquire about party affiliations, but enroll all voters, regardless of party, and try to secure from each a promise to vote. When my canvass is finished I report to my precinct captain, who in turn reports to the ward captain."

Such organizations as these will be

WERE YOU AMONG 25 MILLION WHO FAILED TO VOTE?

Mr. and Mrs. Voter:
Give serious thought to the following figures:
In 1920, 80 per cent of the eligible voters of the country voted.
In 1900, 73 per cent cast their ballots.
In 1908, 66 per cent voted.
In 1912, 62 per cent voted.
In 1920, less than 50 per cent of those eligible to vote went to the polls!

Within the last decade there has been a retrogression of civic conscientiousness a failure on the part of a large number of good citizens to perform their duty of citizenship.

Were you one of the 25 million who failed to vote in 1920?

Voting is a privilege as well as a duty. Election day is Nov. 4. Vote as you please—but—VOTE!

perfected by the women to increase the vote. But it will not be their only effort. They are going to paint, print, shout, parade and rhyme the good word from the house top, street and pulpit.

And they are out to do their part to increase the vote at least 25 per cent.

France Boasts of Coming Star in Tennis World

(By The Associated Press.)
PARIS, Oct. 16.—For the first time in the history of lawn tennis, France expects to be able to boast during the coming season of a player ranked among the first five in the world.

Rebe La Coste is not only the unanimous choice of the sporting writers for the position of ranking high in France in the year 1924 but besides all agree that he should come after William Tilden, Vincent Richards and William Johnston of America, and J. O. Anderson of Australia, in the world's tennis ranking.

The French Tennis Federation will announce its rankings about November 1st and is expected to place La Coste first, Jean Borotra second and Henry Cochet, third. This will break the triple tie which has existed in France during the present year, Borotra, Cochet and La Coste having been placed even in the 1923 ranking as number one players.

BOBBY JONES LOSES

(By The Associated Press.)

Every Team Has 'Em

WILLARD ARMSTRONG AND BOBBIE GRUND

This giant and pigmy will journey together 6900 miles this season with the Drake University football squad, said to be the greatest distance to be covered by any grid team in the country this year.

The "long" of it is Willard Armstrong, 260-pound guard. The small end is Bobbie Grund, 125-pound quarterback.

PROSPECTS OF CLASH AT MEET OF DISCIPLES

Debate Between Advocates of "War for Defense" and Opponents Seen

(By The Associated Press.)
CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 16.—Prospects of a clash between advocates of "war for defense" and delegates opposed to war in any form loomed here today as the international convention of the Disciples of Christ went into its third day's session.

Opposing resolutions were drafted by the "defenders" and "pacifists." It was learned late last night. Under the convention rules, all resolutions are debated in the committee on recommended being presented to the general body.

Kirby Page, of New York, author, and writer against war, was said to have drafted a resolution declaring that the church as the body of Christ and the bearer of the good news of fatherhood and brotherhood, should not sanction war, or bless its weapons, but should follow a more excellent way and thus set an example for the state.

The opposing resolution was said to have been drawn by Rev. W. Paul Marsh, of Middletown, Indiana, a chaplain in the army reserves; Rev. B. A. Abbott, editor of the Christian Evangelist, St. Louis, and others, and asks that "the convention go on record as opposing war excepting when our country is being attacked, and that we are opposed to war of aggression in any form, and further, be it resolved that the chaplains in the United States army and navy and organized reserves be commended for their work and that more assistance be given them by appointing a standing committee on chaplains."

The pacifist resolution, according to Chaplain Marsh, means that "the church will withdraw all moral support and endorsement from the army and navy chaplains."

Both proposed resolutions, it was said, should be adopted, leaving to the individual conscience whether the individual should participate in war or take an attitude of non-resistance.

Rev. E. L. Powell, minister many years for the First Christian church of Louisville, Ky., entered the military protest against what he termed "the star-chamber methods of the committee on recommendations," and declared "the democratic character of the convention since its organization four years ago has been noticeably lost through the growth of an 'official dom' and a tendency to expedite business in transmitting it in the committee on recommendations instead of on the floor of the convention."

Borah Seeks to Be Re-Elected as a Republican

(By The Associated Press.)
BOISE, Idaho, Oct. 16.—United States Senator Wm. E. Borah of Idaho desires to seek re-election in November as a republican and not as a progressive.

The senator, renominated by the republicans and also named by Idaho progressive party, made known his decision last night after the state supreme court had ruled constitutional the statute providing a candidate could not have his name on two tickets.

Senator Borah is in Chicago as chairman of the senatorial committee inquiring into campaign expenditures.

MORE EXPORT BUYING CAUSES WHEAT UPTURN

(By The Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Sharp new upturns in the prices of wheat resulted today from continued export buying on a large scale. It was estimated that between six and seven million bushels of wheat had been bought since Saturday for export shipment to Europe. Wheat closed buoyant, four to four and a half cents net higher.

December, 151 to 151 1/4 and May, 153 1/2 to 153 3/4, with corn 1 1/2 to 1 1/4 cents, oats 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 cents up and provisions varying from seven cents decline to 22 cents advance.

For the Game's Sake

By LAWRENCE PERRY

(Copyright 1924, by The Bee)
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 16.—Who about Marquette? Since the football eleven of this institution went to Annapolis last Saturday and another the Navy team, this question has been pretty much of a national topic.

The rest reaction of the average football follower who knows nothing about Marquette—other than the obvious fact that it is playing high grade football—is likely as not to be a shrug. "Another big game hunter," "Going out and getting 'em," "In the interest of the intercollegiate sports and for other reasons the writer is happy to correct the impressions as set forth, wherever they may exist."

Back in 1920 when the writer last was in Milwaukee—and as it happened upon a rather romantic mission—Marquette was an institution of one building and a football eleven, which the writer saw defeated by some equally obscure team.

The Marquette of today, a huge and splendidly designed stone building housing medical, dental, law, liberal arts and various other institutional departments, suggests to the visitor who knew the old Marquette something closely akin to the municipal city hall of a big city. Citizens turned out to welcome the team back from Annapolis—which shows pretty clearly how the Cream City feels about its own magic university. Marquette is a local institution, but it is open to all creeds and sects. One fourth of the students are protestants—150 methodists are listed in the various schools, nearly 100 Congregationalists, 50 Jews and so on. The religion is slightly more than five thousand.

With two exceptions, the entire football squad is composed of Wisconsin boys, although the University draws heavily from North and South Dakota, and as well as from the home state. With regard to eligibility for the various variety athletic organizations, including football, the same standards are applied as exist in the western conference. The exception that freshmen outfits may play outside games.

Admission to the University is based upon certificate from recognized high schools and secondary schools or, lacking this, upon entrance examinations. There is no more chance of aringer being inducted into the football eleven at Marquette than at Wisconsin. It would be too much to say that no proselytizing is done, but if it is done it is as carefully concealed as a spy in the big three of the East, or any other group.

Marquette draws athletic material from the catholic secondary schools, just as does Notre Dame, and this is something of an asset. But the Milwaukee college recognizes its obligations in behalf of sport decently organized and cleanly played. There is no reason why it should not be an increasing force in this respect in the region.

Frank Murray, the coach, is a Tuftsman who never played football at his college. He came to Milwaukee as assistant to Jack Ryan, now coach at Wisconsin, and has laid not only the ground work but erected the structure of a fine and victorious system of football. He is also a full professor of economics, and is regarded as one of the ablest teachers at the University of Wisconsin. His wife, Mrs. Murray, is a Notre Dame product, line coach, is a Notre Dame product, and Lloyd Scott, the other assistant, hail from Colgate.

Manufacture of Farm Equipment Shows Increase

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Recovering from the slump of 1922, farm equipment manufactures last year surpassed 1922 with an increase of 74 per cent and were 11.2 per cent above the 1921 production. Census bureau statistics announced today for the annual canvass of manufactures of farm equipment places the value of the output at $264,701,537, as compared with $209,639,957 in 1922 and $228,040,783 in 1921.

Manufacture of farm tractors showed a marked increase. There were 184,610 gas tractors and 620 steam engines manufactured with a value of $92,782,550. In 1922 tractors were valued at $77,418,955, and in 1921, $14,681,512.

Cream separators totaled 152,169, as compared with 98,433 in 1922. Internal combustion engines for farm use, under 8 horse power, numbered 163,330, while in 1921 they numbered 110,746.

Moldboard plows increased from 277,939 in 1922 to 668,126 last year, harrows from 235,835 to 441,671, and harvesting machines of all kinds from 69,527 to 96,215.

E. B. TAYLOR MAKING TACKLE

And Mr. Taylor, since you ask us, knows his stuff.

JURY SELECTED FOR TRIAL OF GIRL SLAYER

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 16.—A jury for the trial of Violet Dickerson, 19-year-old "dapper bandit" charged with first degree murder in the killing of Louis Hirsch during a holdup in his store, has been completed after the examination of 150 veniremen. Testimony begins today. The jury is composed entirely of men, all women having been excused or peremptorily challenged.

The defendant was permitted to bring her baby, born in prison, to city hall while she faced the court. At the conclusion of the long session she and the child were returned to prison. Her father, Milton O. Dickerson of Salisbury, Md., sat near her in court.

She is accused jointly with Charles Oeffinger of shooting Hirsch. Oeffinger was convicted of first degree murder.

Germany Wants Zeppelin Works to Remain Intact

BERLIN, Oct. 16.—The successful completion of the flight to America of the ZR-3 has increased the agitation in Germany for revision of the treaty arrangements requiring the dismantling of the Zeppelin workshops and hangars at Friedrichshafen.

A committee of the German trade and industry congress has adopted a resolution expressing hope that the works may not be destroyed but retained to "contribute to the peaceful uniting of peoples and to the common task of bringing about a revival of European and universal prosperity."

Watch the Zinc Powder.

The number of babies who have died from or had their lives seriously threatened from inhaling zinc powder, runs into the hundreds, and possibly into the thousands. This column carried an article calling attention to the danger. Two weeks later fifty cases had been reported to us. The writers also reported to us ten other cases which physicians or nurses had referred to.

In addition, one physician was quoted as saying: "I occasionally hear of other cases." The distribution by States of these fifty cases, Illinois, 11; New York, 5; Indiana, 4; Minnesota, 3; Massachusetts, 4; Michigan, 4; Missouri, 4; Mississippi, 2; California, 2; Ohio, 2; Pennsylvania, 1; New Mexico, 1; Montana, 1; South Carolina, 1; South Dakota, 1; North Dakota, 1; Georgia, 1; Kentucky, 1.

This distribution comes nearer being a measure of the cause, than we read the article and was willing to write that it does of the prevalence of the accident. My guess is that the accident has occurred in every state in the Union and with a frequency in something like a relation to population.

Of the forty-four, eight were reported as having died. In fifteen the report either said the child had pneumonia, or else the symptoms indicated that disease. In every instance the immediate conditions were described as alarming. The child was described as choking, strangling, convulsed, almost dead. In most cases the child was found by the feet and lying on its head down, hoping that the powder would fall out. In addition on some used their fingers to dislodge the powder from the mouth and throat. Some caused vomiting. Some used hot and cold baths. Some symptoms described were appalling. In that the mothers were struck. Apparently the powder caused some edema, and finally bronchitis or pneumonia. When death resulted, it generally occurred within a few hours and always within two days. The forty-two who did not die, were reported as having no after effects, and to five the report did not speak of that phase. In eleven, after effects were reported. Most of these the after effects, or the form of asthma, or some skin trouble.

bic of the eczema type. Two reports gave the expense involved. One mother had to pay a hospital and physician's bill of $600.

In addition, there were three letters that did not report accidents with this powder. One told of a skin eruption made worse by stearate of zinc, one told of accidents of somewhat similar kind with a soap powder and one, advised mothers not to use any baby powder.

The American Medical association has reported thirty-four cases similar to these stearate of zinc poisonings, and in their report they alluded to another report in which a physician recorded twelve cases.

Give the Boy Meat.

Mrs. E. D. writes. My boy is 4½ years old and weighs 42 pounds. He is perfectly healthy. Up to the present time he has never had meat except chicken occasionally and bacon. I give him fresh vegetables every day with either potatoes or macaroni, cereal, and milk. Of course, fruit, and about three times a week an egg in the morning. One doctor advises me that meat is not necessary; another says that he requires meat. If no meat is given he must have more eggs and milk. I am not a vegetarian, but have been very particular regarding my boy's diet and want to feel sure that he will get the proper food.

REPLY

Give him meat. Growing children and hot carter's need meat.

Others need it, but children top the list. If either you or your boy is to go without meat, let it be you.

For T. B. Sufferers.

M. E. P. writes. Here is a little hint for the tuberculosis sufferer. Having been a T. B. patient for some months, and having tried several devices as a cough suppressant, I have found an upstage newspaper folded twice, most sanitary and more convenient to use than a cloth for coughing and the cup for sputum. The paper is so easy to reach as the fold-over paper laying near the patient's pillow. The sputum on the inside folds from flies and when paper is soiled can be exchanged for a new one. Then, too, the folded paper can be opened enough to cough into, doing away with a cloth used for this purpose, thereby saving laundry bill.

Football Questions

If You Have Some Question to Ask About Football Write—
LAWRENCE PERRY,
Special Football Correspondent of The Bee, 314 World Building,
New York

QUESTION—What is the longest distance a football has been punted either in a game or in an exhibition and by whom?

2. What is the longest distance a football has been dropped-kicked either in a game or exhibition, and by whom?

ANSWER—The records of punts are not kept. The longest the writer has seen was in the Harvard-Cornell game of 1915 when Fritz Shivers of Cornell stood on his goal line and kicked to Harvard's twenty-five-yard line. The roll of the ball is included.

2. Longest drop kick—M. Payne, Dakota Wesleyan against Northwestern Normal, Oct. 16, 1915—63 yards. Longest place kick—J. Haxall, Princeton against Yale, Nov. 30, 1882—65 yards.

QUESTION—Suppose a team commits a foul when both teams are in pursuit of a loose ball. What happens?

ANSWER—The ball shall go to the offending side as first down at the spot where the foul was committed.

O'Connell's Story Didn't Ring True

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Frank Frisch, George Kelly and Ross Young, New York Giant players implicated by Jimmy O'Connell in the latter's attempted bribery of Heins Sand, Philadelphia shortstop, were exonerated of all connection with the scandal by Commissioner Landis because O'Connell's story did not jibe with the circumstances at the time of his action.

This was disclosed today by a source close to Commissioner Landis and established for the first time the real reason why, apart from their own denials, Frisch, Kelly and Young were cleared in the investigation which preceded the world's series.

According to this source, O'Connell's story of what happened before and after he approached Sand during the game at the Polo Grounds September 27 was diametrically opposite to that related by Sand and also to the accounts given by Kelly which were before Commissioner Landis.

Asked by Landis what he did after offering Sand $500 to "throw" the game O'Connell was said to have related that he walked to the batting cage and then told Kelly what had happened. Then, O'Connell said, he took part in batting practice.

According to Sand, however, O'Connell did not approach any other player at once but went to the bench and sat alone in one corner.

NUT CRACKER

JOE WILLIAMS

Cozy Dolan of the Giants says someone played a joke on Jimmy O'Connell which led to him offering Player Sand of the Phillies a $500 bribe. .... News Note.

Washington—Senator Grabb, who swindled the government out of five billion succulent smackers in naval oil lands, was found not guilty and acquitted today.

The senator says it was just a joke. The senator is too funny for words.

Boston—Mr. O. Whadda Crook who traded Bunker Hill monument to Squire Hicks of Gooseberry Corners for $1,000,000 and a loud speaker was freed by authorities today on his own admission that he was merely joking.

"A little clean fun never hurt anybody," commented the judge.

Brooklyn—The bridge connecting this burg with New York was blown higher than the price of veal on the hoof by Russian Reds today, causing widespread unrest among the city's daytime sleepers.

"We must have our little joke," explained the vandals. This seems to prove the foreign sense of humor is much superior to the Milwaukee.

Philadelphia—Connie Mack pleaded guilty to the charge of promising to the bleachers of championship team and threw himself on the mercy of the court. It was a bad throw and Connie was charged with an error. If this paragraph doesn't make sense it shows we are improving.

New Orleans—Otis P. James, unwashed descendant of the famous James family, held for spraying the orphans' waffles with carbolic acid.

Confessed that it was all a joke. Mr. James has been offered a place in vaudeville where his naive humor will have a larger range.

St. Paul—Fred Fulton, who was thrown out of the ring last night for winning a fight, protested that the citizens ought to be able to take a joke.

The answer to this crossword puzzle is that they've taken Fred too long already.

North Carolina "U" Meets State

The stellar event in sports in this section this week is today's clash at the Raleigh Fair of the University of North Carolina and the North Carolina State football teams, an event which takes on added interest by reason of the extraordinary rivalry between the two institutions. Judged by the records of the teams thus far, the Chapel Hill aggregation seems the stronger, but any small disparity in normal strength between the rival aggregations is usually made up by the extraordinary effort each makes against the other. The season is yet early for either team to show its up-to-date form, but one team is doubtless about as far from "finished" as the other.

North Carolina university fans are more hopeful of victory once the prospect of having Half Back Bonner in the game is announced. The Chapel Hill team made probably its best showing of the season when it defeated Howard Jones' Trinity eleven showing against North Carolina and Washington and Lee bid its future opponents prepare for a scrap. Watch Wake Forest!

STEVE SULLIVAN KEEPS HIS TITLE

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Steve (Kid) Sullivan of Brooklyn successfully defended his title of junior lightweight champion of the world by knocking out Mike Ballerino of Bayonne, N. J., tonight in the fifth round of their scheduled 15 round fight at Madison Square Garden.

The secret of success is always kept a secret.

Brown's Sinister Kicker

CAPTAIN SHELDON KICKING

The presence on the team of Captain Jim Sheldon makes Brown University a fairly formidable contender for football honors. Sheldon has had three years' experience and is fast and a sure tackler. He's red-headed, a fighter and, you will notice, attacks the ball with his left leg.

6 to 0, whereas N. C. State was beaten 10 to 0 by South Carolina. An immense crowd will assemble to see these teams struggle for the honors at Raleigh today.

Scores thus far indicate that many of other Virginia and North Carolina eleven are likely to be grasping after the shadow while a new comer in the first rank of southern football has appeared in Wake Forest college. The Baptists as they are popularly known, have defeated North Carolina university 7 to 6, Washington and Lee 10 to 8 in the two games played. They have not tackled V. M. I., nor Georgia Tech., nor Georgia university, nor the V. P. I., nor Auburn (Alabama Tech.), nor University of Virginia, but—its early

Bobby Veach Fails; Dykes Best Utility Player; Welch on Market; Bassler Overlooked.

VEACH FAILS TO DELIVER
The failure of Bobby Veach to deliver for the Boston Red Sox may mean the passing of the slugging outfielder to the minors. Veach cost the Red Sox a sum close to $25,000 and wasn't a profitable investment.

VALUABLE UTILITY PLAYER
Jimmy Dykes of the Philadelphia Athletics, capable of playing any position in the infield or outfield, is perhaps the most valuable utility man in the American League. Incidentally he is in the 300 class as a batsman.

WELCH ON THE MARKET
Rumor has it that Connie Mack has already placed Outfielder Frank Welch on the trade market. Welch has the ability but lacks the disposition to make the most of it.

COONEY COMES EAST
Looks as if the Boston Braves had picked up a prize package in Pitcher Cooney. Not only is he a very capable pitcher, but he plays the outfield as well as the old apple a la Rogers Hornsby.

WILLIAMS LOOKS GOOD
Manager Lee Fohl of the Boston Red Sox is hopeful that in Danny Williams he has picked up an outfielder who will win a regular job next season. Williams was secured from Mobile and went big last month in the American League.

EXPERTS OVERLOOK BASSLER
In picking All-America teams, the experts have overlooked Johnny Bassler of Detroit. He is a fine receiver and the hardest hitting catcher in the American League. His mark is close to 350.

HORNBY SETS NEW RECORD
Rogers Hornsby in batting well over .400 for 1924, again leads the National League and sets a new record of topping that organization for five successive years. He is the most consistent batsman in the majors.

MOORE HELPS PIRATES
Moore, who was used in the outfield during the last end of the season because of his hitting, came to the Pittsburgh club as an infielder. Earlier in the campaign he did great work in place of Traynor at third.

MEUSEL HAS BEST ARM
Bob Meusel of the New York Americans has the strongest and most accurate throwing arm in the majors. He literally throws strikes on every ball from the outfield.

HEAVY BAT NO HELP
Outfielder Ken Williams of the St. Louis Browns used a much heavier bat than usual the past season with hope of increasing his home run total out failed to get results.

BASKETBALL TEAMS NOW ASSURED FOR HI SCHOOL

Basketball enthusiasts—and they are many—were rejoicing yesterday over the decision of the Danville city council to allow the high school players the privilege of using the auditorium at the municipal building for basketball practice and contests.

The action, which was taken Tuesday night following the visit of Dr. I. C. Harrison, president of the C. Griggs, to the council chamber, was also hailed with delight by Principal Clark. Mr. Clark was dismayed after learning that the boys and girls would not have an indoor court this season because of the improvement work done on the auditorium which was used last year as a basketball court.

The high school principal who came here this year from Richmond told a representative of the Register recently that the difficulty of setting floor acutely emphasized the need of gym facilities at the high school.

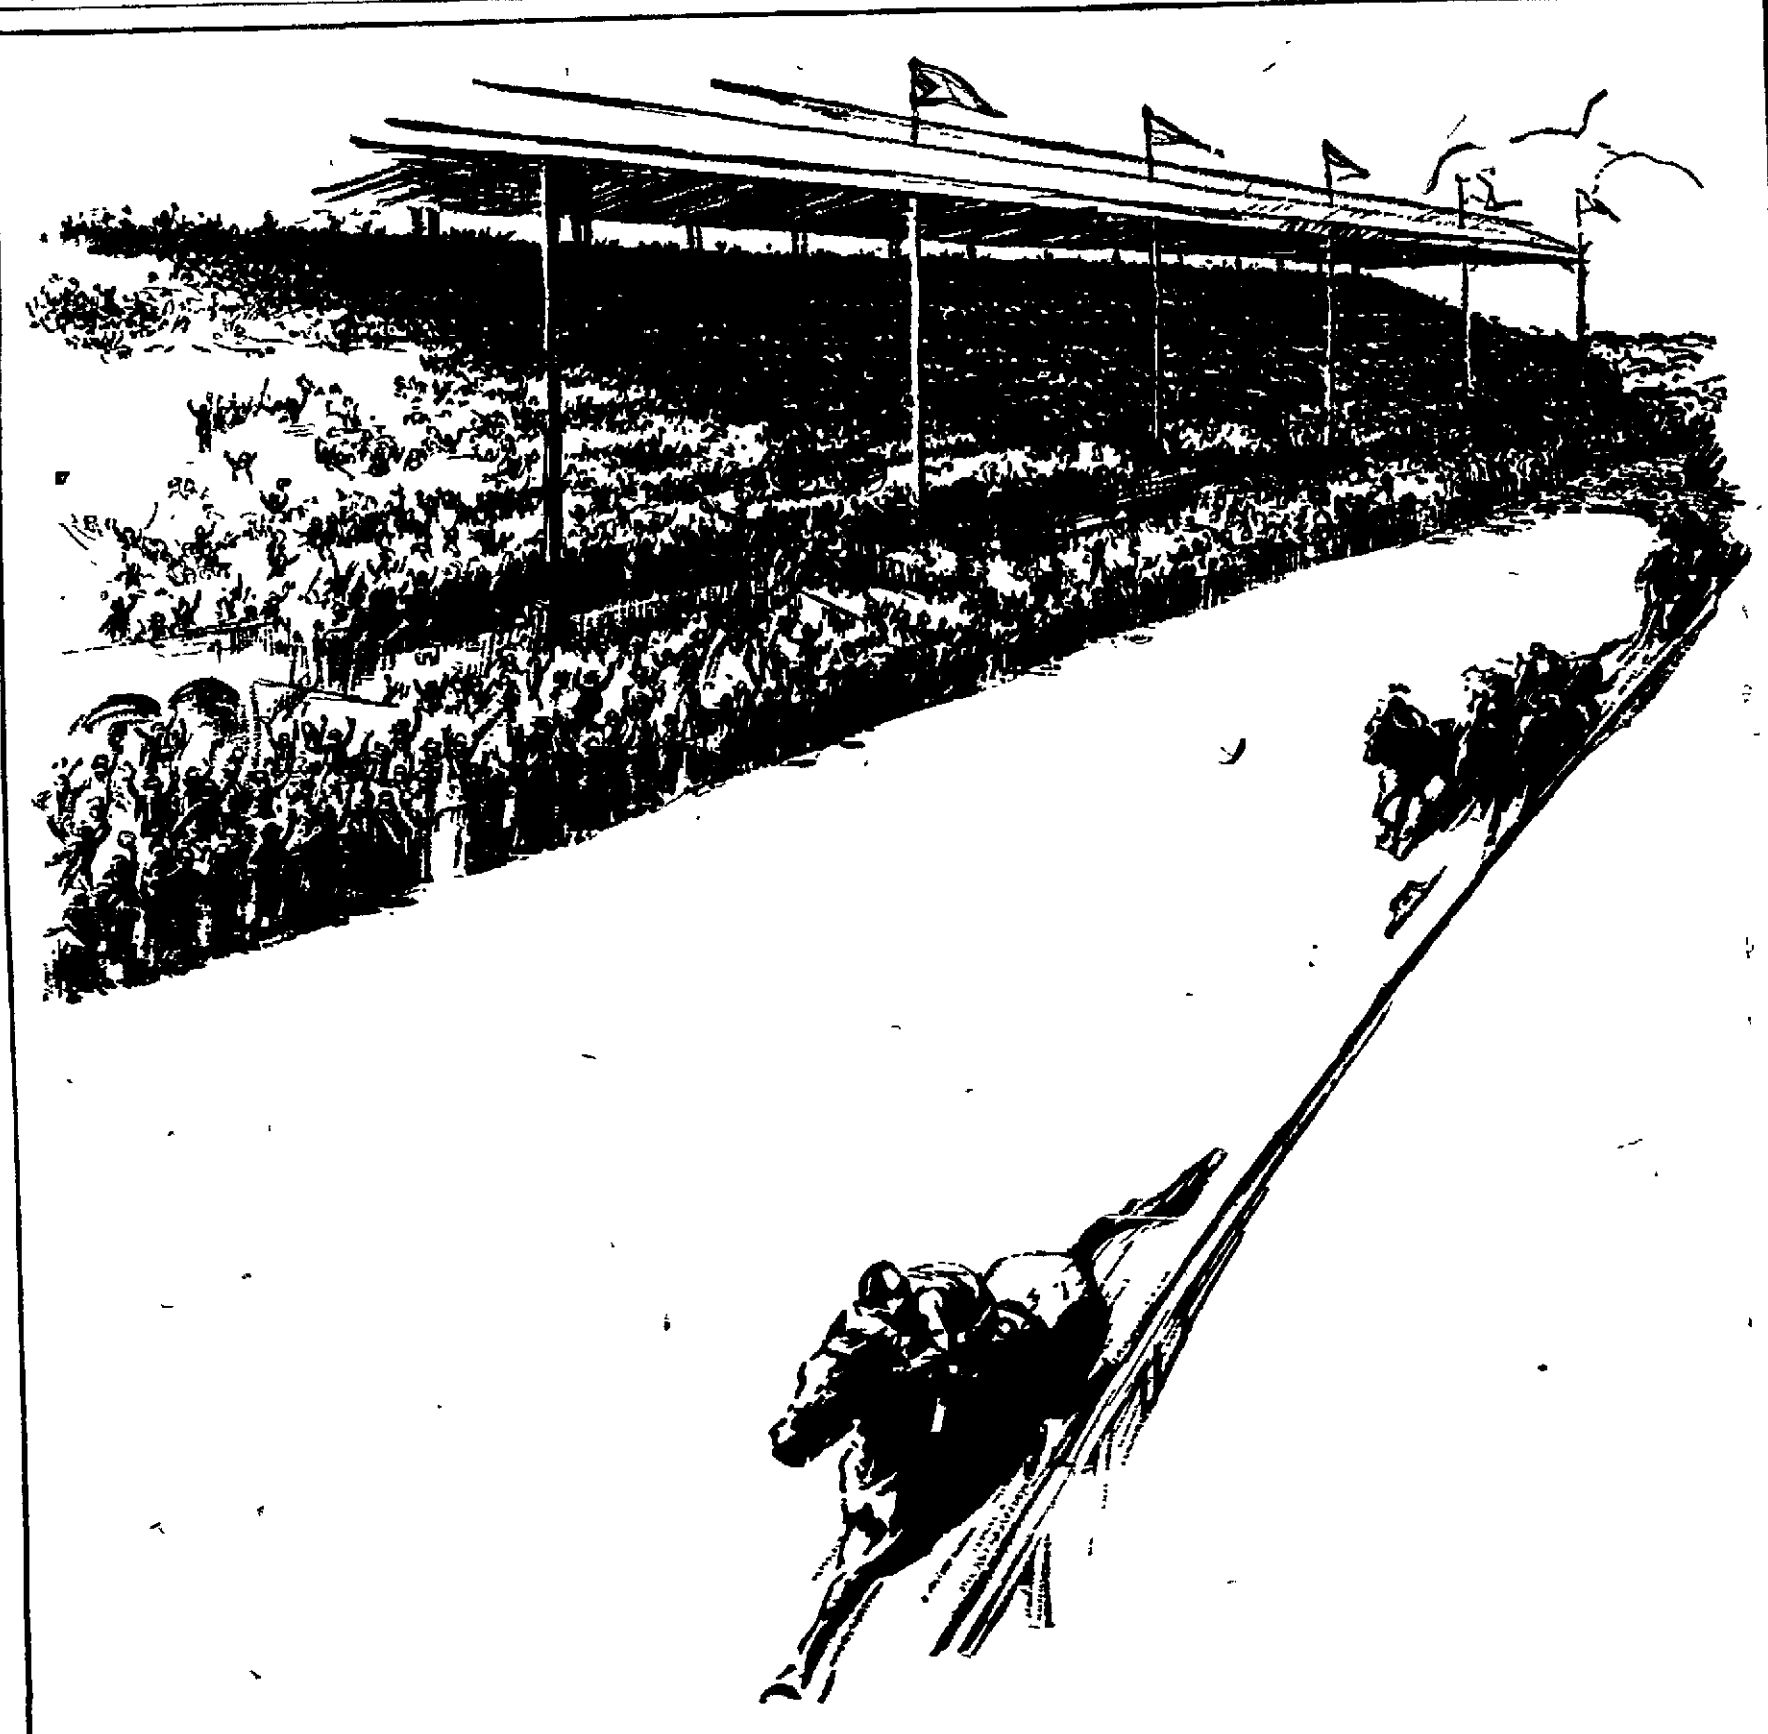

The boys and girls teams will now redouble their practice efforts. The girls have been going out to Hylton hall for practice sessions, but this has been unsatisfactory because of the distance. Schedules also have been held up because of the uncertainty of getting an indoor court. The schedule makers can now go ahead.

BRITISH SUBSCRIBE TO LOAN

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The British portion of the German loan had almost as instant success as the American portion and quickly was oversubscribed today. No announcement has been made as to how many times the issue was covered. It is expected it will be several days before allotments are made.

TOY BANKS BACK IN GERMANY

BERLIN, Oct. 15.—Savings banks for children in the form of toys have come as a reminder that the days of the inflation period have passed. Children are encouraged to save by their parents, for the municipal saving institutions pay interest ranging from 8 to 15 per cent.

AMERICANS ATTACKED BY FANATICS, RECOVER

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The changed social and economic order, which since the war has been yearly more apparent, has brought another historic mansion upon the real estate market.

This is Combe Woodhouse, in Combe Wood, once the home of Katharine Parr, a lady who achieved distinction by becoming the sixth wife of Henry VIII and undying fame when the mutations of fate decreed that she should be the cemetery widow of a monarch among whose spouses mortality was heavy, even for the times of the Tudors.

The interior of Combe Woodhouse is charming, all the features being Tudor. There is a leather room, also a Tudor Hall, long gallery, paneling everywhere, and some old stained glass with Katharine Parr's arms on it.

Thus changes are taking place in England, the country which used to be so hostile to any interruption of the established order. Although it must not be taken as a forerunner of prohibition, it is worth noting that the Old Castle Inn at Smallbury, Green, Isleworth, a favorite haunt of Dick Turpin, the highwayman, which has dispensed good cheer since 1597, will shortly become a private residence.

The notorious highwayman, who frequented Hounslow Heath, was not the only caller whose visits are recalled by the villagers who drop into the Old Castle Inn of an evening.

The older a man is the younger he wishes he was.
